

Wednesday, April 29, 2015

CLICK HERE TO REGISTER

Getting to Better Health: CONNECTing Care and Community

The health reform agenda is focused on achieving affordable access to quality care to improve health. Yet evidence shows that social and economic factors like housing, employment and healthy food options have a much greater impact on health than clinical care.

Join us as we explore linking health care services and community-based resources to improve the health of all Connecticut residents.

When:

Wednesday, April 29, 2015

8:00—9:00AM Networking and light breakfast

9:00—12:00PM Program

Tickets: $20

Students: FREE

Quinnipiac University Staff & Faculty: FREE

Where:

Quinnipiac University, North Haven Campus
Auditorium, Center for Medicine, Nursing and Health Sciences
370 Bassett Road, North Haven

Featuring:

Keynote Speaker:
Elizabeth Bradley, PhD

Professor, Yale School of Public Health

 @ehbyale

Speaker:
Jenney Samuelson, MS

Assistant Director, Vermont's Blueprint for Health

Followed by a panel of local experts:

Molly Gavin (Connecticut Community Care, Inc.); Yolanda Lopez (Clifford Beers Clinic, WrapAround New Haven); Gina Muslim (Community Solutions, Hartford Community Partnership); Lawrence Young (Saint Francis Hospital & Medical Center, Curtis D. Robinson Center for Health Equity); and Moderator Dr. Meहुल Dalal (Connecticut Department of Public Health).

Presented by:

Sponsorship opportunities are available.

Join the conversation on April 29th
using #R2T on Twitter!

Registration is now open. Click the link above or visit UniversalHealthCT.org to register.
Questions: info@universalhealthct.org